London Underground –
A Simulation Study: Step 6

Introduction of stochastic variations. The drive time and dwell time will be generated dynamically using distributions.
Statistical data are collected during the simulation.